

The way money should feel.

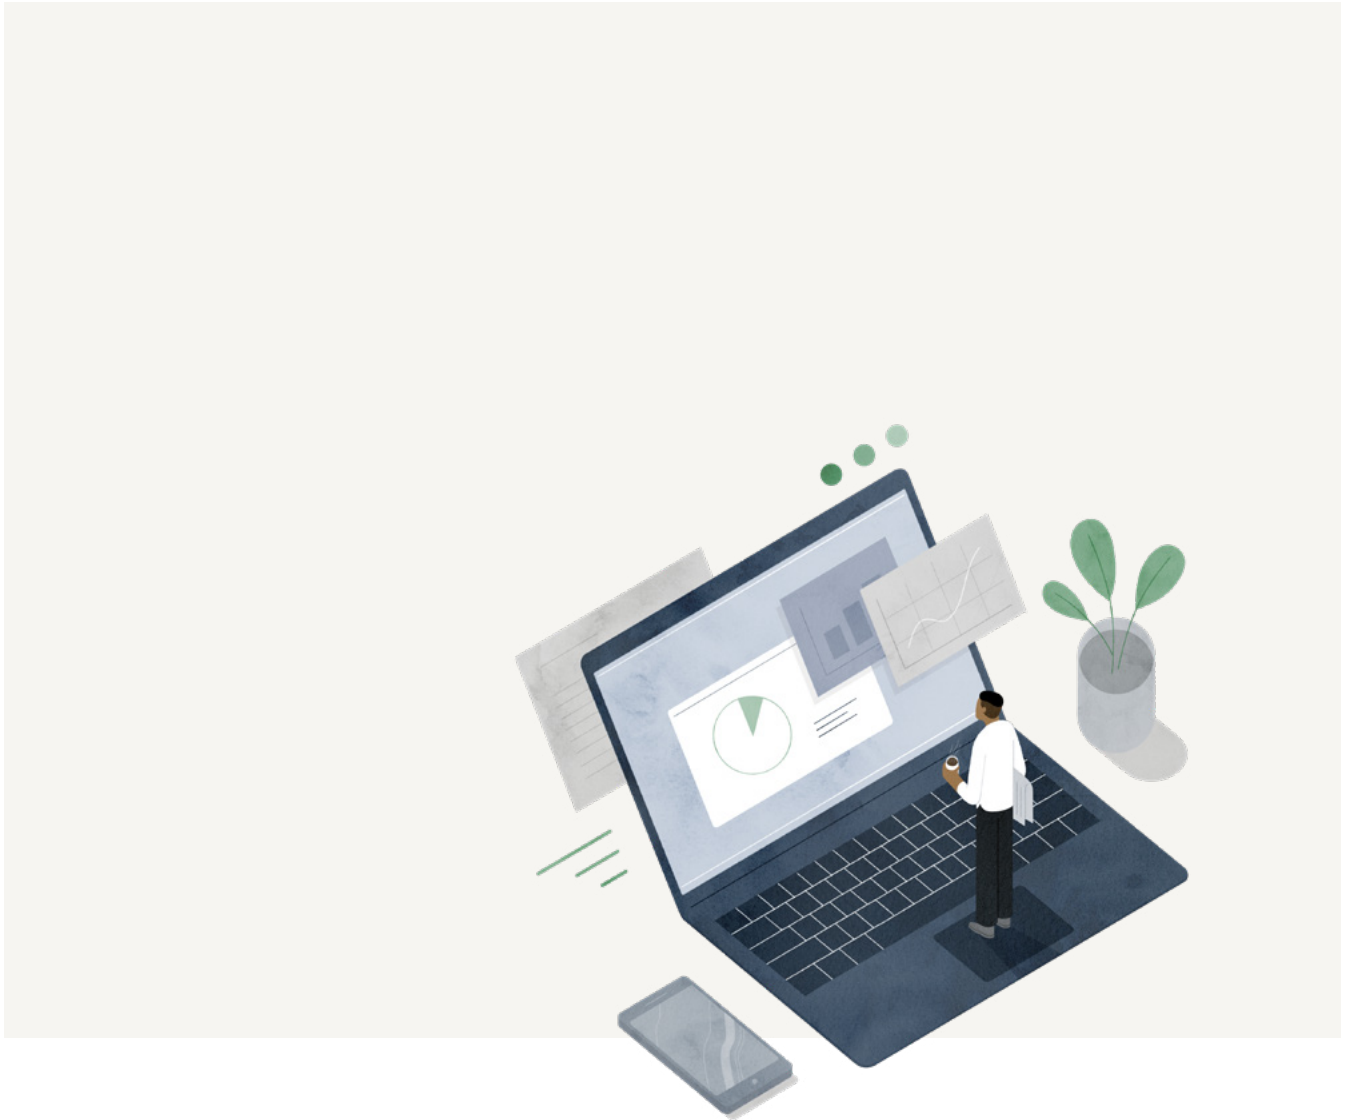

We believe that a great advisor helps you reach your financial goals quicker and with less stress. This is why we built a technology platform to remove the friction from managing your money and make it easy for your financial advisor to do their best work.

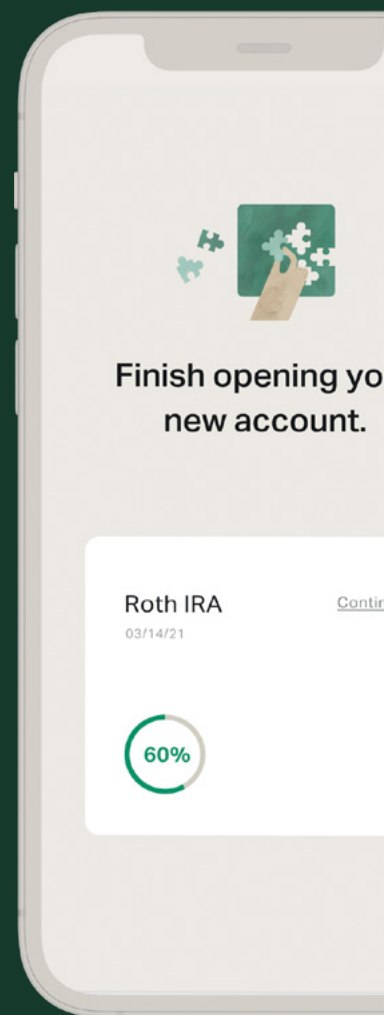

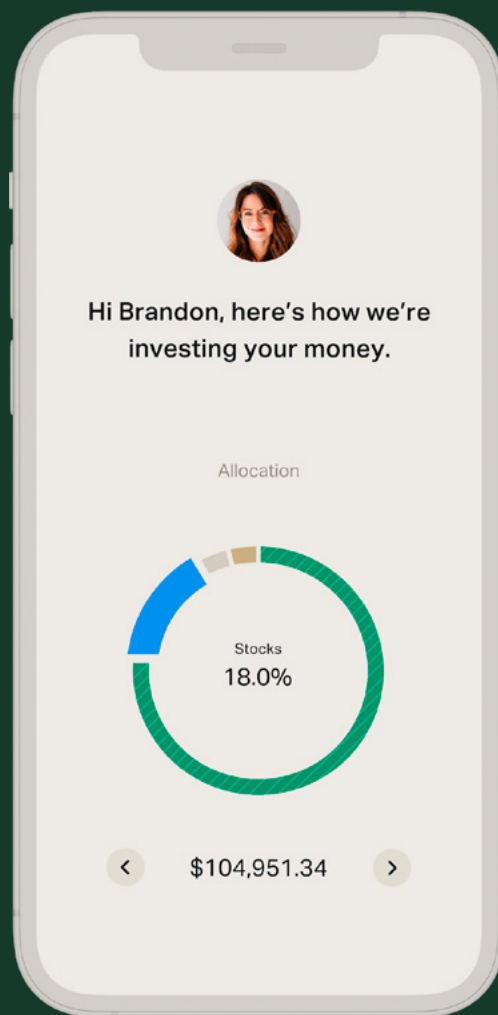

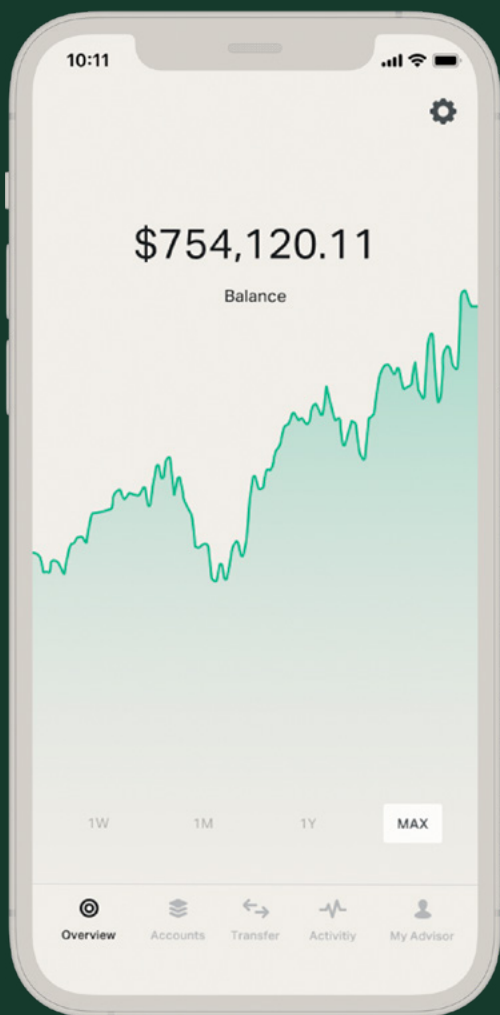

Before Altruist, being a financial advisor required a lot of complicated and expensive software. We've brought together all the essential advisor tools into one easy-to-use platform, from opening accounts and managing investments to analyzing a portfolio and providing efficient client service. This frees up time and enables your advisor to focus on serving you even better.

With access to commission-free fractional shares using Altruist, your advisor can invest your money in high-quality assets, no matter the price. By lowering costs and empowering your advisor to be more efficient with your portfolio, you have the opportunity to reach your goals faster.

We're here to give you an all-access pass to your financial future. It's a breeze to stay in-the-know about your portfolio and connect with your advisor using our app and web portal. You can also open and fund accounts online in minutes with no paper at all.
